

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

An apparatus for analyzing a data signal, comprising an acquisition unit for acquiring a data signal for a predetermined time, and a memory for storing the data signal. A controller, including a memory for storing a software phase locked loop 5 program, a processor for executing the software phase locked loop program, and recovering a clock signal from the stored data signal are also provided.